THE WORLD ALMANAC WILL TELL YOU ABOUT

OLD CAPT. M'CULLAGH.

Death of the Veteran Policeman in His Station-House.

The body will be removed to Irvington this afterneon, where the funeral will be held.

He Had Been III Only a Week with Quinsy.

For Over Twenty Years He Was Precinct Commander.

Police Capt. John H. McCullagn, of the Twenty-first Precinct, died at 5.30 o'clock is now confined to his bed at the Southwestthis morning in his room at the station-house in Thirty-fifth street, near Third avenue

Cant. McCullagh took to his bed in the station-house a week ago to-day. His family physician. Dr. Manheim, was called in and tack of inflammatory rheumatism.

CAPT. M'CCLLAGB. sheim wouldn't permit him to be removed to his home, as he regarded his condition as too serious. Yesterday the Captain was believed to be improving.

About 2 o'clock this morning he took a bed turn. The nurse who was attending to him got Sergt. Hatton, who was on desk duty, to send for a physician. Dr. Manhelm was tele- ties scarculary to-day for ex-Divekeeper graphed for, as well as Police Surgeon Thomas E. Gould, for whose arrest for failing Fleurer and Prof. Phillips. There has been talk for some time that McLaughin's men would join in the fight against the machine. Capt. McCullagh, although known as "Old Capt. McCullagh," to distinguish him from his kinsman, Capt. John McCullagh, of the Prince street station, was only fifty-one years old and apparently as active and strong as ever.

He had been on the force nearly thirty years, a captain over twenty years, and had he lived and continued on the force another year he would have added the sixth gold stripe of honor to these upon his sleeves.

He was born in Country Tyrone, irriand, in parents when he was cloven years old. His parents went to live at Irvington-on-the liudson. Before he went on the police force, it is said, he was in the employ of Cornelius.

As one result Policeman James G. Taylor was dishessed from the force, and in consequence McCullagh nearly lost his life.

Taylor lay to wait for McCullagh and shot him. The bait cut off the lower part of the lobe of his right car and buried itself at the base of the brain. The doctors had to probe four inches for it, but they got it.

The very next day Police Commissioners Actor, Bosworth, Manierre and Bergin met and made McCullagh a Sergeant. Hanged Himself with His Muffler.

The very next day Police Commissioners Acton, Bosworth, Manherre and Bergin met and made McChilagh a Sergeant.

Sergt. McCullagh continued with Capt. Walling butti the latter was promoted to an inspectorship, when he was sent to the Grand Central Depot.

April 20, 1872, McCullagh was promoted to the captaincy. He was first detailed at the Thirty-firth street station and subsequently in the "Bloody Eighth," at Prince and Weoster sreets, and the old station-house that Subsequently became the Chambers Street Hospital. towing the Naronic May have made for the Agero, the Naronic may have made for the Ageros, and as communication with those islands is very irregular it is not thought inkely that her sale arrival there could have been reported up to this lime.

One theory in regard to the Naronic's failure to be reported was advanced to-day by an experienced scaman, and finds many who are inclined to accept it as the correct solution of the matter.

This is that the Naronic has bet with an accident to her machinery, and being beyond control, is driftline not in towards Greenand. The westerly gales, which have prevailed for some time, would certainly drive her in this direction if not opposed by motive power. At the same time it is pointed out that if the ship was in southern latitudes she would have been reported longage, as all the vessels recently arriving at this port have followed as Jutherly course.
